

Radars Updates

It is not those Radars which are obvious..

It is the new ones that are the problem – they are well hidden

You can find them behind trees and brush - even installing them in the middle/dividing lanes - and they can capture cars coming from both directions.

The radars can record up to 5 - 10 cars at the same time from both directions...

Even motorcycles will get flashed from the front as well as from the back...they are no longer safe

And within the city limits, if you are 6 kilometers over, you can plan on paying at least 15 Euro fines.

These radars look like traffic lights and can be found on back roads as well as highways

Look at these....

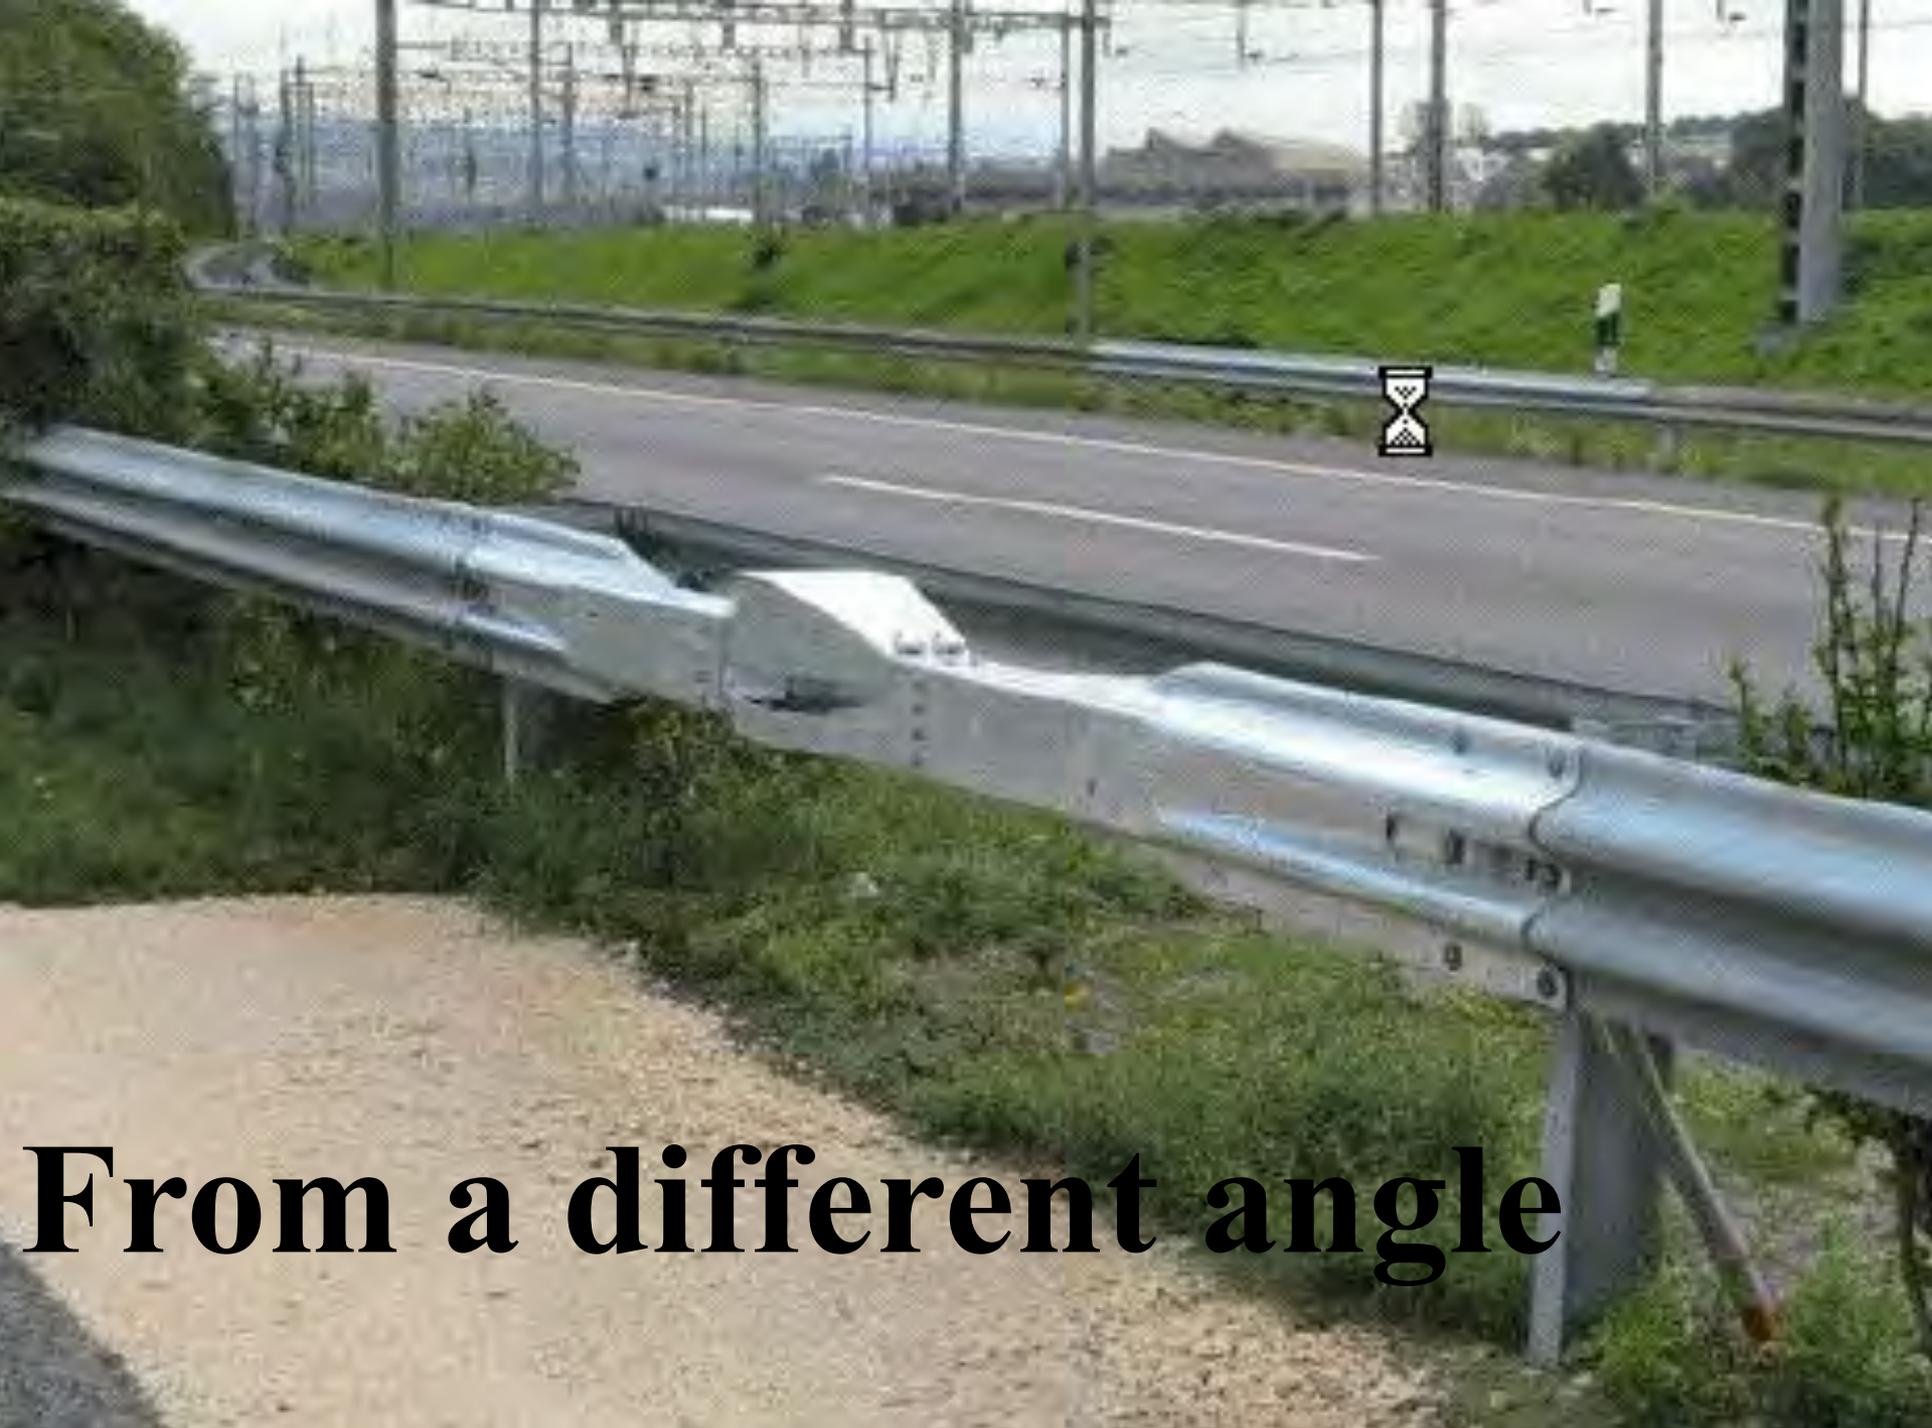

...They look like side street markers

The following trap has been announced for awhile - but they are being active in installing them
along the highways

From a different angle